

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The multimedia providing system includes a conversion server capable of obtaining the multimedia content and retransmitting it to the outside of the 5 Internet. The conversion server comprises a first access means for accessing the servers through the Internet, a first obtaining means for obtaining markup language and multimedia content from the servers, a converter means for converting the markup language and 10 multimedia content into a format suitable for communication with the terminal, and a transmitter means for retransmitting the markup language and multimedia content, to the terminal. The terminal comprises a second access means for accessing the 15 servers through the conversion server, a second obtaining means for obtaining the retransmitted markup language and multimedia content, and display means for displaying the multimedia content in accordance with the markup language obtained.